Statement of Interest – Why should you be appointed to this board/commission?

I am interested in the Human Relations commission primarily because Diversity, Equity and Inclusion is my passion. As someone who has been engaged in antiracism activism and community organizing with local orgs - Showing Up for Racial Justice; ACT Anne Arundel Connecting Together; and marriage equality with the Unitarian Universalist Church, I am very committed to DEI in our systems and communities. My experience in youth non-profit over the years has also given me some amazing opportunities to be in relationship with many young people and families and learn so much about the effects of historical oppression and marginalization of many communities in Annapolis.

I am currently completing a professional certificate at the Georgetown University Institute for Transformational Leadership on Diversity, Equity and Inclusion and want to be a tool for this work in my community. In reading about what some of the upcoming initiatives are for the HR commission, I am very interested to be part of this agenda. The equity work and policy in Montgomery County that Annapolis is looking and the Police Accountability Board are both examples of creating institutional changes that will also contribute to changing the culture. I selfishly would like to be part of that so I can learn personally but, also, because I think it is some of the most important work this administration can accomplish. I believe I could help in making that happen.
