PETITIONS, REPORTS & COMMUNICATIONS

Update from Mayor

Good evening! Firstly tonight, I must acknowledge sad news. Vince Leggett, founder of Blacks of the Chesapeake, passed away suddenly on Saturday night.

Vince dedicated his life to preserving the rich heritage of Black watermen and their contribution to Chesapeake Bay maritime culture. As Executive Director of 'Blacks of the Chesapeake', he worked to ensure that the Black community's vital role in the region's water and seafood industry, is recognized and respected.

Under his guidance, Blacks of the Chesapeake grew into an influential organization, engaging with schools, museums, and preservation groups to raise awareness, and preserve our history and environment.

In particular, I want to acknowledge the crucial role Vince played in the City's acquisition of Elktonia Beach, once part of the famed Carr's and Sparrow's Beaches that provided a safe haven for African American families during the time of Jim Crow.

The Elktonia property is now preserved for future generations as a public park managed by the City of Annapolis on behalf of all residents – an achievement that would not have been possible without Vince. He was a true friend and partner to the City and this community.

I know all the Council join me in mourning Vince, in honoring his incredible legacy, and in extending our heartfelt sympathy to his wife and family; and we will continue to honor his legacy by ensuring the history of Black watermen remains a cornerstone of our community's heritage and the Elktonia-Carr's Heritage Park mission.

And now, please join me in a few moments of silence in remembrance of Vince.

++ Pause ++

Earlier today I was privileged to join in some important community events. The first was a press conference and commemoration ceremony to honor the 64th anniversary of the day when five courageous Black Annapolitans walked into a restaurant and asked to be served just like other citizens.

They were arrested and ultimately fined but as a result of their protest, local anti-discrimination laws were passed. Ultimately their protest, like thousands of others all over America, would result in the passage of the 1964 Civil Rights Act.

We owe the Annapolis Five, and the many others who stood up for justice at that time, an enormous debt of gratitude because their courage ensured a more free and fair democracy for all of us today. May we always honor their legacy and may we face the challenges of our times with the same courage that they showed in the face of oppression and injustice.

The second event I was fortunate to attend today was the annual 'We Care and Friends' Thanksgiving Dinner at the Stanton Center.

This is a wonderful Annapolis tradition where we get to serve residents in need a Thanksgiving supper with turkey, dressing, and all the trimmings. Afterwards, we gather in friendship and share a slice of pie. I thank all those who joined in the meal, and all those who prepared the food and volunteered to serve. It is a moment of true community for Annapolis.

We are all looking forward to further celebrating Thanksgiving later this week. As a reminder, City offices are closed for Thanksgiving and Black Friday.

I want to wish my Council colleagues, City staff and all residents a very happy holiday. I am thankful for all of you and hope you all enjoy a wonderful celebration with family, friends and loved ones!

Thanksgiving kicks off our holiday season here in Annapolis, and we can already see the business districts in Downtown, Inner West Street and West Annapolis decorated and ready for the holidays.

At the last council meeting, I invited City staff and the public to our annual City Hall Open House on Thursday December 5th from 5 to 6:30 p.m. It will be my last turn hosting the Open House as Mayor so I hope to see you all there for what will be an especially festive celebration.

December 5th will also be the first night of Midnight Madness downtown, where stores stay open late. There are carolers and twinkling lights, hot cocoa and alpacas! Make sure you come down for at least one of the nights of Midnight Madness. The others are Dec. 12 and Dec. 19.

This weekend, we've got more festivities with First Sunday Arts Festival, the Chocolate Binge Festival, and the Grand Illumination at Market Space.

On Dec. 7, there's the West Annapolis Holiday market and the following weekend, the City Dock Holiday Market and Eastport Lights parade.

And that is just scratching the surface of all the activities and events taking place in Annapolis this holiday season – that is why we are rated as one of the best holiday season destinations in America! Please check the City website for more!

Starting Dec. 2, Annapolis Police Chief Edward Jackson's community engagement division is launching "coffee with a cop," an opportunity for the public to engage with Annapolis Police. From 10 to 11 a.m., stop by Bitty and Beau's coffee shop at 124 Dock Street, to have coffee with one of our amazing police officers, who are working very hard to build relationships across our community so that together, we can all make our city safer.

And finally, we have one more Council Meeting on December 9 before we wrap up 2024. I want to take this opportunity to give a special shout out to City employees who do the hard work of municipal government every day.

You respond to emergencies, give comfort in times of trauma, keep the streets clean, provide transportation, and ensure that our kids have a fun place to go for recreation, among many, many other things. I could not be prouder of the work of City staff each and every day. I am honored to be your Mayor and I know the whole Council feels that same and joins me in thanking you for another year of hard work on behalf of our residents, businesses and visitors!

Now let's get on with our meeting!
