PETITIONS, REPORTS & COMMUNICATIONS

Update from Mayor

Good evening and thank you for joining us here and if you're at home for tuning in.

I want to talk first about a couple of tragic incidents involving juveniles in our community. Last week, a 16-year-old was shot at Bates field where young people were out playing soccer. He luckily survived the injury and police worked quickly to investigate. A suspect was arrested and charged last Friday.

These two individuals were well known to each other - in fact they were related. A teen conflict turned into gun violence. Totally unacceptable.

On Saturday evening, we had our City's first homicide of the year, a 16-year old who was shot inside a residence in Parole.

Police are actively investigating and have asked anyone with information to reach out to Annapolis Police detectives. Tragically it seems that once again, the victim and perpetrator were known to each other.

Both of these tragedies highlight the deadly consequences when ready access to guns mixes with young people in conflict.

To the parents, caregivers, family and friends of those lost: on behalf of this council and city residents, we extend our deepest sympathies. This is something that no parent should have to endure and we are so sorry for your loss.

I encourage all families – talk to your children about their conflicts and pressures and try to help them to navigate the trouble spots in their lives. We can provide resources and community support, but we need your eyes and ears to help us keep these children safe.

To back you up, we will keep working with the county and state to ensure resources are available to help, including social work, harm reduction and violence interruption, mental health supports, safe schools, and more.

Please have the conversations, use the resources and let's be sure that our young people have a bright and safe future ahead of them. Breaking the cycles of violence isn't easy, but we must do everything we can.

Now if we could, I would like to take a moment of silence for the young man who lost his life on Saturday.

Speaking of ways to positively engage young people, I hope we get a big turnout on Sunday at Maryland Hall for the presentation of the Key to the City to Kendall Dorsey. Mr. Dorsey is a son of Annapolis who followed his passion for hair care and has become a stylist to the stars including the likes of Rihanna, Lizzo, Cardi B, Alicia Keys and Nicki Minaj.

I want to thank our African American outreach specialist Adetola Ajayi for putting this event together and for having Kendall visit local schools to work with students, as well as give hair demonstrations at local businesses.

The Key to the City presentation at Maryland Hall is free and open to the public. It starts at 4 pm and we look forward to seeing all of you there to celebrate Kendall Dorsey's success.

==

Adetola is also staging three more "State of Black Annapolis" events in collaboration with the Michael E. Busch public library on West Street in honor of Black History Month. Each night's event begins at 5 p.m. on Tuesdays and includes refreshments prepared by Black-owned businesses. Tomorrow's event is "How to build a Black Art District in Annapolis;" next Tuesday is "The Other Annapolis: A Modern Perspective;" and the final event on February 25 is a celebration of Black educators, elected officials, entertainers, and entrepreneurs.

One thing to be mindful of tomorrow is that we are currently monitoring potential wintry weather through into Wednesday. This weather may impact the State of Black Annapolis discussion and other events around town so please check the City website and the 'Prepare me Annapolis' app for alerts and updates.

In order to help our plow crews tomorrow, we are asking residents to move their vehicles off Snow Emergency Routes. You can move your car to a side street or your driveway, or to City garages, which will be free for residents starting at noon on Tuesday until 9 AM on Thursday.

====

City offices will be closed in observance of Presidents Day on Monday, February 17. Pip Moyer Rec will remain open, but Stanton Center will be closed. There will be no changes to recycling and refuse pickups. Annapolis Transit's "Go-Time" will operate on a Sunday schedule.

==

Lastly tonight, I want to say a few words about Andre Atkins, a Housing Authority board member who recently passed away. Mr. Atkins was the most recent chair of the HACA board and before that served as president of the tenant council for Harbour House and Eastport Terrace. He was a fierce advocate for resident rights.

But more than that, Andre was a good and decent man - the kind of person you want as a neighbor, a friend and an advocate. Details on a memorial service have not been sorted yet, but we will share those details when they become available.

Let's take a moment to hold Andre in our hearts and send some love to his family and friends.

[moment of silence]

Thank you and now let's get on with the meeting!
