Rebuilding The Hillman Garage

Starting in May of 2020, a group of 100 stakeholders were convened to determine a resilience strategy for Annapolis. The City Dock Action Committee (CDAC) determined that the Hillman garage conversion, through a Public Private Partnership, could be leveraged to offset some of the costs for the reimaging of downtown's City Dock.

CDAC requested proposals (RFPs) from a consortium of design, engineering, and mobility companies. When the winning bid was selected, Annapolis Mobility and Resilience Partnership (AMRP) was tasked with not only rebuilding the Hillman Garage, but in coming up with a mobility plan to help residents and businesses navigate parking and transit during the 14- to 16-month rebuild.

It won't be without some changes from our normal routines, but when the garage is complete, it will be an outstanding addition to downtown with more parking, better stormwater controls, easier payments and working elevators!
