A. Update from the Mayor

Mayor Gavin Buckley
City Council Remarks
June 27, 2022 - 7 p.m.
City Council Chambers

Good Evening! I'd like to start out tonight by thanking all who attended and participated in Friday's Key to the City Presentation with Rodney Barnes at Maryland Hall. It was great to celebrate his accomplishments in Hollywood movies and his work as an author and graphic novelist, but it was even more fascinating to hear from him how his upbringing in Eastport has informed the trajectory of his career.

He talked about the Eastport where he grew up - at a time when it was a more diverse and integrated community - an era when he spent a lot of time out-of-doors with his friends in a mode of constant discovery and imagination.

Annapolis is a special place. It was an honor to hear about his journey and to recognize him for all the work he does with young people, from reading to elementary school kids in Eastport or the comic book events he hosts at the library or events at Pip Moyer. He may be Hollywood, but he still answers the call to Annapolis.

We've got July 4th coming up and I want to remind all of our residents and visitors to be patient with everyone that comes to Annapolis for our Independence Day celebrations and festivities.

If you're driving into town, please park at Navy Stadium, it's $10 and we have a free shuttle that will get you from the stadium to Lawyer's Mall for a short walk to City Dock or your favorite viewing spot. The shuttle will run until midnight to get you back.

You can also park at any of the parking lots or garages along West Street and take the shuttle to downtown. That runs on an 8 minute schedule.

Remember, the closer-in you park to downtown, the longer it will take you to get back out.

The parade starts at 6:30 p.m. and the fireworks will go off around 9:15 p.m.

As a reminder, we know that Independence Day is a day of pride and celebration. But - there are members of our community for whom loud explosions can be distressing, especially young and special needs children, veterans and those with Post Traumatic Stress Disorder (PTSD), and of course pets. Please be a good neighbor!

Stay safe and have fun.

On Friday, we learned that the Supreme Court overturned the landmark 1972 court decision known as “Roe v. Wade.” While Maryland is insulated from the extreme impacts this ruling will have for millions of American women and families, that acknowledgment doesn’t make it any less of a devastating blow to bodily autonomy and the rights of families to make their own medical care decisions.

In Annapolis, we will continue to work with our county and state partners to ensure health care access.

We also want to ensure the safety of women who seek out care at facilities in the Annapolis community. More than 30 years ago, Maryland voters in a statewide referendum ensured that Maryland women would be protected if Roe went away. We thank the voters for affirming that right.

On Wednesday, we will celebrate the re-opening of the pool at Harbour House with a grand opening celebration. That is at the Leron Fisher pool on Thursday, June 29 at 11 a.m.

I’d like to thank and acknowledge City staff for helping with the training and funding necessary to make that happen. Recreation and Parks Director Archie Trader assisted with the training and certification of the lifeguards the Housing Authority hired. In my office, William Rowel worked with Atlas Restaurant group on a generous gift of $10,000 to help fund the operations.

As you all know, the pool opening had been delayed from Memorial Day due to funding issues and a tight labor market. In addition to City support, community groups stepped up to offer financial support while an increased hourly wage helped lure lifeguards. I congratulate HACA on their work with all these partners to achieve this great outcome.

I just want to say that we were happy to “pool” our resources to ensure that this HACA amenity could open and families could use it over the summer.

In addition, children from Housing Authority Communities are able to use the City’s municipal pool at Truxtun Park at a discounted rate of $1 per person.

This pool announcement follows the ribbon cutting ceremony at Wilbourne Estates last week, the replacement community that was once known as Newtowne Twenty. I hope you’ll check out the video of the rebuild of that community on the City’s social media pages. It was wonderful to hear from residents who have moved/are moving back in!

Friday was the last day of school for students in Anne Arundel County Public Schools. I’d like to remind everyone to slow down in your neighborhoods, look out for kids on their bikes and playing out of doors.

Let’s make sure our kids have a great summer!

Final item: tomorrow morning at 9:30 a.m., we will have a wreath laying ceremony at the Guardians Memorial to mark four years since the tragedy of the Capital Gazette mass shooting. We will have a poetry reading and then we'll all come back to City Hall for refreshments and the unveiling of a new piece of artwork for City Hall, a Mark Peria wood cut print of our five, much-missed community members and Capital Gazette staffers: Wendi Winters, John McNamara, Rebecca Smith, Gerald Fischman and Rob Hiaasen.

All are welcome and we use this opportunity each year to reflect and remember all those who have lost their lives, or are affected by gun violence, and - above all - redouble our efforts on gun safety. I hope to see you there.
